Nancy Bauer

Nancy Bauer was born in Massachusetts and moved to New Brunswick in 1965. She has received awards like the CBC Literary Award for the short story in 1982 and the Alden Nowlan Award for Literary Excellence in 1999.

She co-founded the Maritime Writers' Workshop, served as a member of the organizing committee of the Writers' Federation of NB, and held the writer-in-residence position at UNB.

This is her first bound publication in over twenty years.

The inspiration for the cover of this chapbook came from the original Series.

The University of New Brunswick's Archives & Special Collections Library granted us the use of an original architectural drawing from 1966 for this purpose.

Volume One has been printed on 80 lb. Mohawk Via Vellum and bound into a paper cover of the same stock. The Lokta endpapers are handmade from a renewable Himalayan resource.
