

Frog Hollow Press is proud to announce that Number Four in our Dis/Ability Series is now available.

We, Old Young Ones by Dominik Parisien

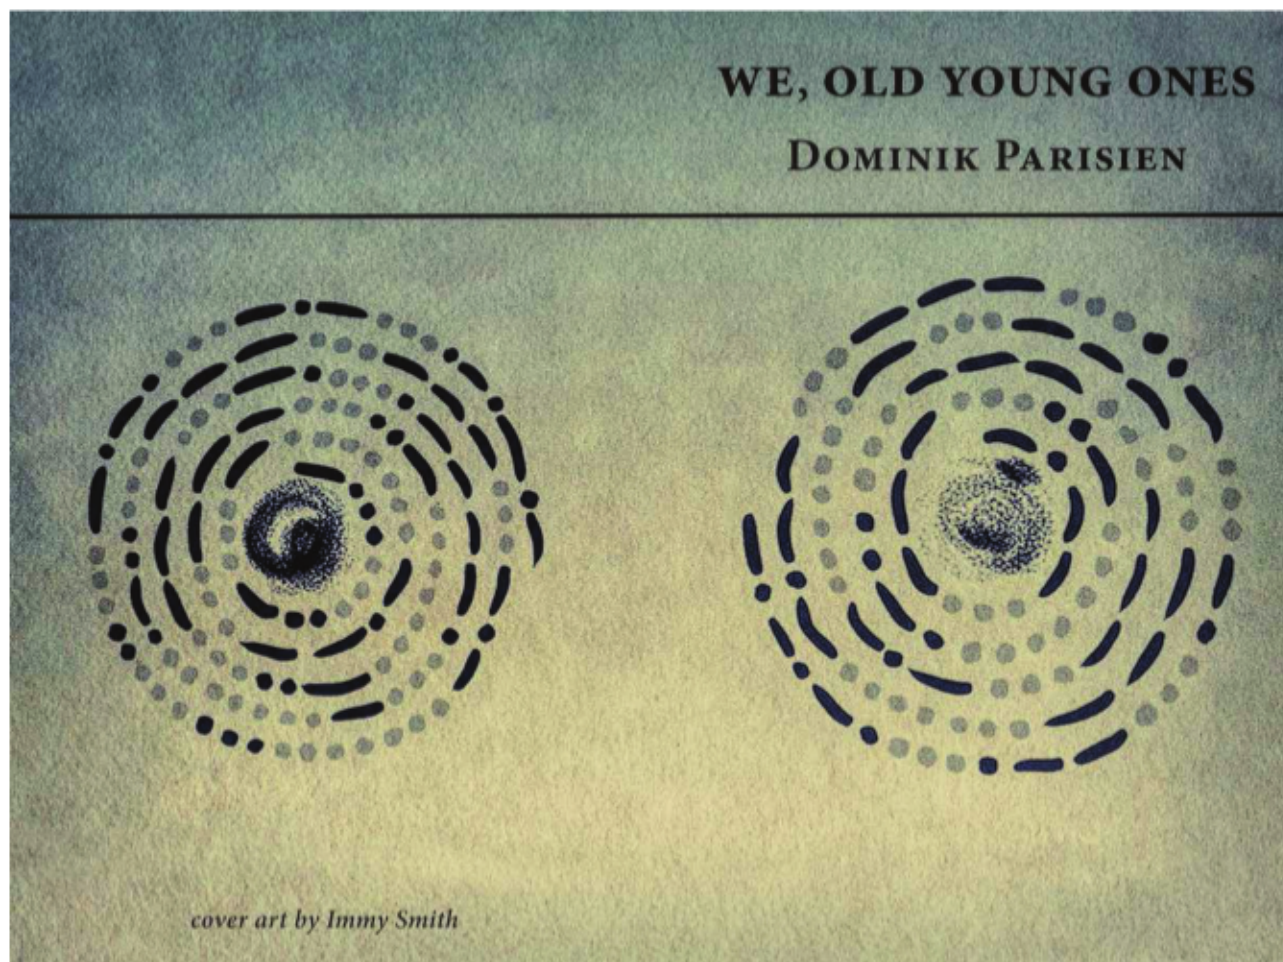

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Let us for a moment call this pain by other words
After convulsing in public
Watch For That Horizon
Card game with disabled friends a new home
Afternoon with Grandparents
The Eganville Healer's Compound
A mask is not a face
Old young man
After deciding not to die by suicide, you should be thinking
I hear you in the broken things
The old man in his room, always in the nude Concussion
you are (b)rain weather
Sand Bags
MRI, or The New Art of Anthropomancy
In His Eighty-Second Year
Side effects may include strangers
Degeneration
To a Dying Friend
Picture book of pain

ENDMATTER

Dis/Ability Series
Acknowledgements
Biographical Notes

Let us for a moment call this pain by other words

Ask, How many roses does the hammer weigh when it bears down on your skull?

Does the sword seem toothed like a toddler's smile or sharp as your first ice skates?

On a scale of anglerfish to northern lights how bright are the flashes in your head?

When I touch this, here, which constellations light the sky behind your eyes?

Would you say that pulsing is the flicker of a satellite or the stubborn heartbeat of a newborn chick?

Ask, Can we for a moment make of beauty the measure of our pain? and I will answer.

Cover art by Immy Smith

Limited edition of 100 numbered copies - 40 pages

ISBN 978-1-926948-73-7

CA$14 incl. s/h
